

Biography Werner Filez

Werner Filez is international Business Development Manager Transportation of the FLIR ITS (Intelligent Transportation Systems) company, worldwide well-known by his thermal imaging sensors.

With a keen eye for new market share, Werner Filez has over 18 years of international business management experience. Werner has successfully grown several startup ventures in to full-fledged companies with rising shares in the market. Since 1992 Werner Filez has helped create companies to provide enterprises with viable and innovative security solutions to grow their market presence. In 1996 Werner Filez decided to go to Germany to enriches its security know how in the public sector market. This passion made him one of the senior security professionals in the transport public sector with in the first line preventing accidents and serious infrastructure damage.